Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed on 12/7/05 has been entered. New claims 4-15 are added and claims 3-15 are now pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 recites the following limitations:

In line 6, "said customer's sound reproduction system", in line 9, "the acoustic environment".

In claim 4, line 4 and 5, "said customer's sound reproduction system" and "the acoustic reproduction".

There is insufficient antecedent basis for these limitations in the claim.

In claim 3, line 24, after "electronically", a verb is missing to complete the sentence.

Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Moorer (US 6,904,152 B1).

As per claims 3-15, a business method for the sale of customized multichannel recording comprising: accepting an order from a customer to manufacture a customized multiple channel recording; obtaining a plurality of parameters related to a customer's sound reproduction system, said plurality of parameters comprising the number of channels in said customer's sound reproduction system, the type of speaker attached to each said channel, the sound reproduction system characteristics of said sound reproduction system, acoustic environment characteristics within which said sound reproduction system will be used, said customer's preferences for the use of said customized multiple channel recording and for the content to be included on said recording and optional content available for the recording (see abstract, col. 4, lines 30-65); retrieving a preexisting multiple synchronized channel master recording containing said preferred content from a source; creating said customized multiple channel recording having at least one channel corresponding to each channel of said customer's sound reproduction system (col. 5, line 40 to col. 6, line 63) , each said at least one channel being created by mixing and combining individual channels from said preexisting channel master recording, said mixing and combining including the application of audio techniques comprising amplification, attenuation, phase correction, equalization, and filtering to fit said preferences defined by said customer; electronically assemble said customized multiple channel recording with other multimedia data related to said content or customer preferences; deliver said customized multiple channel recording to said customer (see fig. 3).

Moorer does not explicitly disclose a multichannel record by mixing and combining the source channels applying audio techniques including but not limited to amplification, attenuation, phase correction, equalization, and filtering and also determining a method of payment by said customer for the customized multiple channel recording but it is obvious that all audio techniques and sound reproduction would deal with some kind of attenuation, phase correction, equalization and filtering in order to achieve the maximum clarity in the delivery of a sound to a customer also improve considerably the sound quality and the sound image perceived by those who are sitting in the room where the sound is being reproduced.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 3-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Moorer (US 2005/0141728 A1) discloses techniques of making a recording of or transmitting a sound field from either monaural or directional sound signals that reproduce through multiple discrete loud speakers.
- Moorer (US 6,072,878) discloses techniques of making a recording of or transmitting a sound field from either monaural or directional sound signals that reproduce through multiple discrete loud speakers.

Art Unit: 3627
